THEIR SWEETHEARTS MUST BE UNION MEN.

League Club Girls of Chicago Have Agreed to Shun Outsiders.

WEDDING TRUST IS A SUCCESS.

Offers of Marriage Are Pouring In on the Young Women in Pink Enveloped Letters.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Their loyalty to the cause of union labor has made a score of young women who are banded together in the organization known as the "Union League Club" the envy of their companions.

A week ago the girls belonging to the club announced to the world that thereafter they would have nothing to do with young men who did not carry union cards in their pockets. At the time they were obliged to put up with the jests and jeers of their companions. Now it is their time to laugh, for it is doubtful whether there are any young men in the country who have a larger number of men from whom to choose their future husbands.

From the time that the announcement of the girls' intention was made until today they have been besieged with offers of marriage. Pink, blue and green enveloped letters have accumulated at their headquarters, No. 125 Washington street, from men who are willing and eager to comply with the conditions which the girls announced they would insist upon in their suitors.

MEN FREAK THEM.
"You are the girls for us," is what the letters declare. They come from all parts of the country, and the girls are all agreed and all are signed by men who declare that they will marry no woman who is not ready to take the same pledge that the girls have volunteered.

The result has been a tremendous demand for memberships in the "Union League Club," and when the organization meets again 100 more girls will be initiated. The girls declare that the offers of matrimony which have been offered them are a splendid proof of the effect of their plan. They are those who whisper that they desire to become members of the organization. They are those who whisper that they desire to become members of the organization. They are those who whisper that they desire to become members of the organization.

HEADQUARTERS IN FLAT.
The girls are anxious to impress upon all men who take part in the union cause that they are not only incidentally to the work of their own organization. They expect to accomplish great things by it and are already discussing one plan for making their organization popular.

It is their intention to establish their headquarters in a furnished flat, which, of course, must be built by union men and contain nothing but union-made furniture. In this flat members of the organization who are out of town will be cared for by other members. At the same time the flat will be utilized as the meeting place of the club and the place where all business of the organization will be transacted.

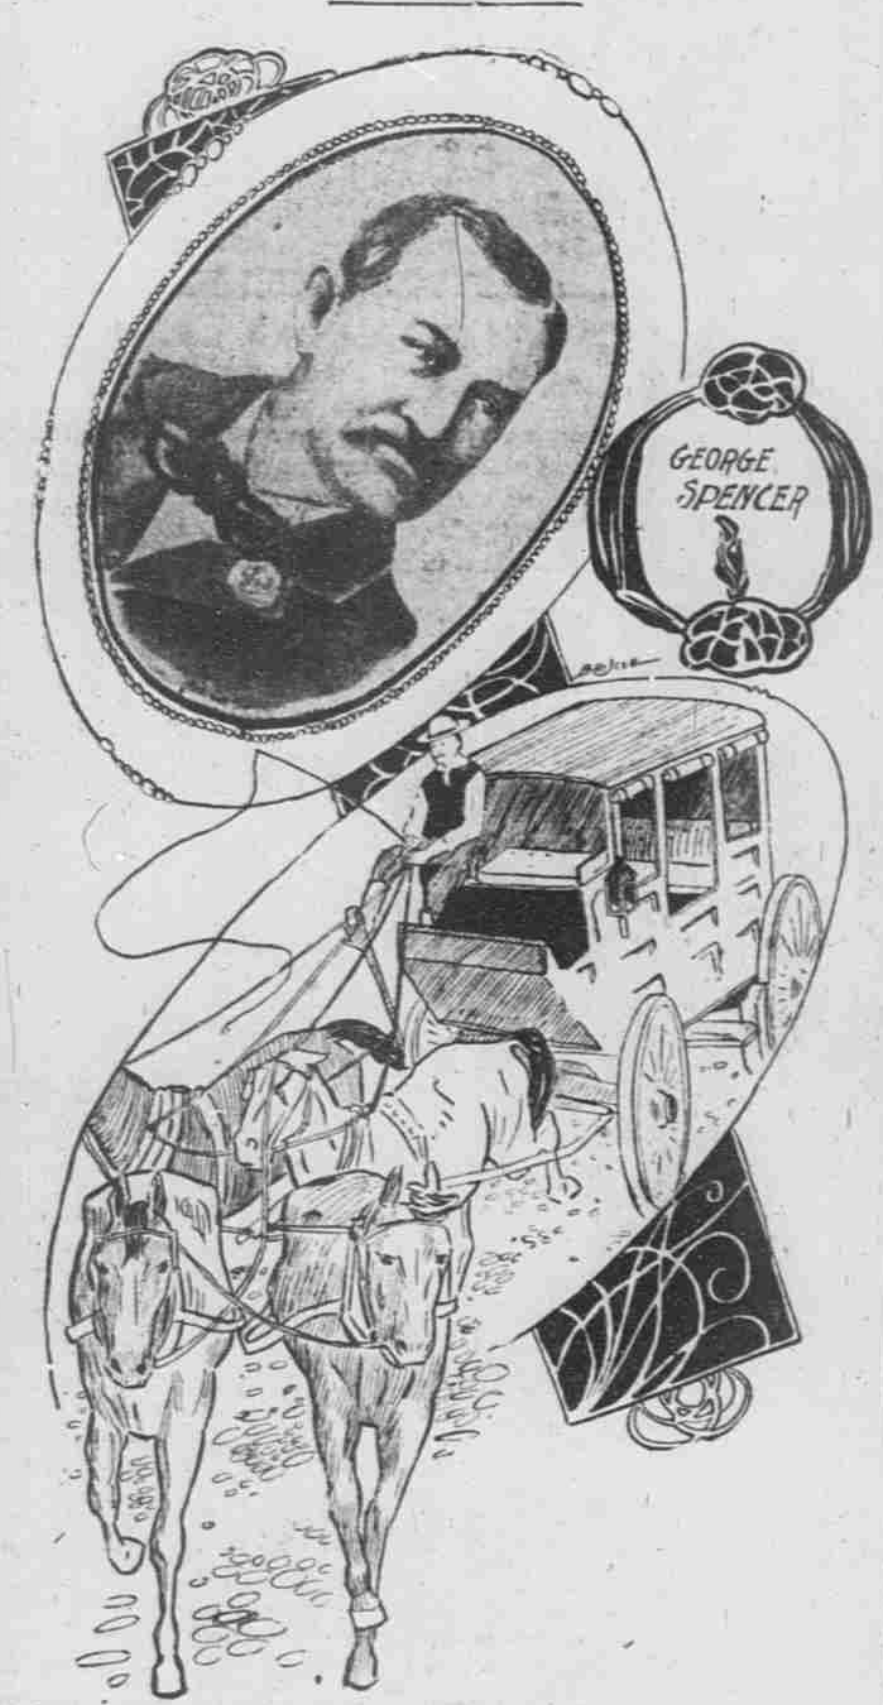

Other plans of a similar nature are being considered and before long the girls expect to have a majority of the young women who belong to unions such as those of the rubber workers, glass blowers and others in which the female element predominates in their organization.

BEARERS DRIVERS GRIEVANCES.
Bearing drivers and the men who drive carriages in funeral processions are considering a strike which may have a serious effect upon the city. The men have two principal grievances. First and foremost is that they are obliged to wear milk hats which are thirty years out of date, as far as shape and style are concerned. The second is that they are not satisfied with the board they are obtaining.

GEORGE W. SPENCER, FAMOUS STAGE-DRIVER, IS DEAD.

He Was Hero of Encounters With Highwaymen and Indians—Later Inherited Fortune From an Eastern Relative—Retired and Made His Home in Oakland.

CAPTURED "SPANISH JACK," A NOTORIOUS FRONTIER THIEF.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
San Francisco, Oct. 4.—George W. Spencer is dead. In his day he was as celebrated a stage driver as Hank Monk, who drove Horace Greeley through the Rocky Mountains, or Harry Fox, the most reckless reindeer man in the business.

"Spence," as he was dubbed, came to California in 1849 from Vermont, where he was born seventy-three years ago. He came for his health. He led an outdoor life, and that is one reason why he braved the trip across the plains.

After getting into San Francisco "Spence" struck a job as driver of the stage that used to run between San Francisco and San Jose. That was in the early fifties. The stage office in those days was at the El Dorado Hotel.

The El Dorado contained not only the stage office, but the express office and a gambling den, and all the best citizens made it their headquarters. "Spence" made himself famous the third time out by outwitting two road agents. They stopped out of a thicket near Redwood City and layed him to stop, and then gave the lash to his six horses and left the desperado far behind. A few shots came whizzing after the stage, but all hands escaped. For this exploit "Spence" won the admiration of primitive San Francisco and was presented with a whip that he prized until the hour of his death. The whip is composed of a three-foot stick and nine-foot lash and is beautifully wrought.

WOMAN HOLDS UP STAGE.
When the railroad came "Spence" drifted into the interior. He drove stages about Mariposa, Chinese Camp, Sonora and all those towns that fringe the southern mines. He had a thrilling experience on one of these trips. A woman sat on the seat with him when he drove to Sonora. Half way down to Stockton she asked him to stop so that she could pick some wild flowers. When she reached the ground she pulled a pistol from under her shawl and leveled it at "Spence's" head, commanding him and the other passengers to throw up their hands. At the same time two men came out of the brush and re-enforced the woman's demands. It was easy to see that they were working in concert, and that the woman in the stage went up in the air and the two men went through the passengers' pockets. When every dollar had been captured, "Spence" was ordered to drive on, and the highwaymen were never heard of again.

In the late stages "Spence" drove a stage between Jackson and Horrocks. One day a desperado named "Spanish Jack" and a companion came out of the brush and ordered all hands up. "Spence" recognized the leader and said:

The two robbers kept the passengers covered and one of them cut the traces of the horses. There were eight or ten brave men on board and they all carried their pistols in their hands. But "Spanish Jack" held a shotgun filled with buckshot, and had the drop on them and they surrendered their coin and watches when the hat was passed around. Wells-Fargo's box was rifled, too, and altogether the robbers got $2,000 or $2,500.

"SPANISH JACK" LYNCHED.
"Spanish Jack's" easy money didn't do him much good, however. One night he grew reckless and showed himself in a gambling den in Horrocks. "Spence" recognized him and soon after he was a lynching bee. They hanged Jack from a Luck mine as a warning to other desperado characters with which the town was so full of them. The other highwaymen were afterwards shot to death in a quarrel in Montana.

Twenty years ago "Spence" was left a fortune by a brother who died in Boston since. He was in fairly good health until two weeks ago, when he suffered a paralytic stroke at his home. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Spencer, and three sons, Aaron W., James A. and William N.

BLOOD POISON CAN BE CURED.

Not by mercurial rubbings at Hot Springs, not by taking mercury or potash in the stomach, but only by the subcutaneous treatment administered by the INTERNATIONAL SERUM TOXIN CO.

F. H. COOPER, President.

F. A. SIEBER, Medical Director.

TO relieve the suffering; comfort the afflicted; give hope to the despairing; to restore a diseased body and mind to health and happiness; to absolutely ERADICATE BLOOD POISON FROM THE SYSTEM—that is the greatest blessing which can be conferred upon suffering humanity; and for this wonderful discovery Dr. Sieber is entitled to receive the fervid thanks of men and women. Thousands of patients travel annually to Hot Springs, Ark., and other health resorts for relief from this most deadly of all ills that human flesh and blood is heir to. Others seek relief through their own physicians or consult some well-advertised concerns who claim to effect a cure; others, again, resort to various nostrums diligently and persistently advertised—all with the same result. The disease is temporarily allayed; it is what you might call whitewashed, only to break out in one, two or five years with increased blackness and malignity. MERCURY and POTASH do NOT cure. No. There is but one treatment that ERADICATES the poison from the system. To eradicate the disease, that's the thing; to make a person as well as one who never contracted it; to remove from the blood all taint of heredity, that is, as far as is known to-day, only accomplished by the treatment discovered by Dr. Sieber, the ingredients of which contain neither MERCURY nor POTASH nor any other deleterious poisons. And that his treatment does eradicate the poison from the blood is attested to by hundreds, yea thousands, of men and women who during the past twenty-five years have been cured. And NEVER a failure, not one; never a relapse, NOT one. Forty injections will eradicate every particle of taint from the blood, will make one a new man with renewed energy, provided the patient will, during treatment and for six months after, abstain from the use of intoxicants. In the tertiary stage of this terrible disease a person may be attacked by locomotor ataxia, paralysis, paresis, loss of eyesight, the lungs, kidneys or liver may be affected. Remove the cause and the effect is a well man. And not alone does this wonderful remedy remove all blood poison from the system, but it drives out at the same time the mercury with which the body is impregnated.

From the many desperate cases cured by Dr. Sieber's treatment we will only mention two—one the miraculous cure of M. F. Shiel, whose case was published in one of the Chicago papers a few weeks ago; the other that of Mr. Carmichael, whose case is reported in The Inter Ocean of this date. From these reports we extract the following:

"Grateful for the benefits I have received from the Sieber Serum Toxin cure for paralysis—caused by blood poison—I can do no less than make known its wonderful efficiency. Two years ago I received a paralytic stroke, was taken to the county hospital, where, after two months' treatment, I was discharged as incurable. I was in a desperate condition. My left leg and left arm were entirely useless, the right side of my face fearfully distorted, and my speech incoherent. A friend who saw my deplorable condition induced me to consult Dr. Sieber. I did so, though I had no hope that any treatment would relieve me, but, as events have proved, the Serum Toxin treatment accomplished all that was claimed for it; it saved my life and restored me to perfect health, and so I feel that ordinary thankfulness requires that I make the cure known to others who may be seriously affected."
—M. F. SHIEL.

"About two and one-half years ago I became troubled with frequent and excruciating shooting pains in my legs, with involuntary twitchings. My eyesight became affected and my memory impaired. I went to a doctor, who at once said I must go to Hot Springs, Ark. 'Your trouble,' he said, 'is caused by the same malady that people go to Hot Springs to be cured of.' So down to Hot Springs I went, and took the baths and had myself dosed with mercury until I would have made a first-class barometer. Not a bit of improvement resulted. In fact, I got worse. * * * Becoming discouraged, I shook the dust of Hot Springs from me and came back to Chicago. Then I got another physician. * * * He proposed to cure me through the use of electricity and flagellation of my limbs, in order to restore the impaired circulation. * * * The tortures that I endured from this mode of treatment was something indescribable. Yet I could not see any benefit resulting. At last I went to the International Serum Company, 48 Van Buren street, as my only hope. I met Dr. Sieber, and he examined me thoroughly. He told me that my case was a pretty bad one, but that he was confident he could cure me. It was the latter part of May, 1901, when I took the first injection. The treatment consists entirely of subcutaneous injections, and these are administered once a day. By the first of June I could feel that I was improving. At the end of a month I was so much better that I could get about without an attendant. In November I threw away my cane and have had no occasion to use it since. * * * To-day I am as bright mentally as I ever was, and as strong physically as any man of my age—42—that I know of. I have been 'restored to life.'"
—CHARLES CARMICHAEL, 335 E. Indiana St.

These cures border on the miraculous; they are marvelous surely, and the only reason why these men gave their testimony thus publicly and gratuitously was because they wished to aid those who might be similarly afflicted.

F. H. COOPER, Founder of The Big Store of Siegel, Cooper & Co., Indorses the Sieber Treatment.

About five or six years ago a friend called my attention to Dr. Sieber's treatment, with the object of enlisting my interest in the matter, for the purpose of giving to the discovery the publicity which, in his opinion, it deserved. His enthusiasm was such that I consented to look into the matter, with the result that, during all these years, I have watched carefully the worst cases which came to the doctor for treatment, and I am now pleased to testify that I am absolutely convinced that the treatment eradicates every taint from the blood. For the purpose of giving this boon to humanity world-wide publicity, I have organized and accepted the presidency of the International Serum Toxin Co. I named the company the "International" because the disease is international and because the company intends to open offices not only in the large centers of America but in foreign countries as well. Dr. Sieber's discovery is of too vital interest to the human race to allow it to remain unknown. Indeed, it would seem almost criminal to allow people to die in despair and not tell them of this wonderful cure.

As to the Doctor, who has devoted his life to the discovery of this cure, he is entitled to the thanks of suffering humanity, and I predict that before long his name will be heralded as the greatest benefactor of the human race.

Chicago, May 1st, 1902.

CARE OF SICK IMMIGRANTS.

Hospital May Be Erected in New York Harbor.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The Health Department of Greater New York has notified the Treasury Department that it will be unable in the future to receive immigrants with contagious diseases in its hospitals. Accordingly an amendment is asked for of the contract the government has with the New York City officials by which diseased immigrants under detention have been treated in the municipal hospitals.

For some years past the sick immigrants have been taken care of in this way, the government paying $1 a day for each person so treated in the city hospitals. Recently the Treasury Department has decided to discontinue this arrangement, and to have the sick immigrants cared for in a hospital for immigrants or for a building that may be erected for this purpose.

A conference will soon be held with the War Department officials with a view to arranging for the use of some land in New York harbor that is owned by that department. If the site is secured a fine hospital will be erected there from the immigration funds.

On account of the International Fair to be held at San Antonio, October 12th to 26th, the Iron Mountain Route will sell tickets at ONE FARE plus $2.00 for the round trip. Tickets on sale October 12th and 16th.

Note: Since the above was published, shortly after the organization of the company, we have cured hundreds of chronic diseases, such as Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, Paresis, Loss of Eyesight, Aneurism of the Aorta (never before cured), Epilepsy, etc., all results of blood poison. During these five months we have cured any number of cases which were pronounced incurable by the attending physician. As President of the company I take pleasure in stating that my experience so far convinces me that there is absolutely no case of Blood Poison which the treatment will not cure, no matter of how long standing. Being the founder of The Big Store of Siegel, Cooper & Co. in Chicago, and at present Vice President of The Big Store in New York, many of my friends expressed surprise that I should have entered into this field; but I will say right here I have never done so much good to humanity in all my life as I have during these few short months by giving publicity to this boon to humanity, and I know that by opening offices all over the country the benefits to mankind will be incalculable. For this reason I am proud of being at the head of this company—more proud than I ever was for managing The Big Store.
